

The law around organ and tissue donation is changing in Scotland

From 26th of March the law around organ and tissue donation is changing in Scotland.

If you're aged 16 or over, you will be considered as a possible donor when you die, unless you opt out. Whatever you decide, please let family and friends know your decision, so they can ensure it's honoured.

For more about the law change and your choices, visit organdonationscotland.org or call 0300 303 2094.

Healthier
Scotland
Scottish
Government